Much of the time the jury was out reaching a verdict was spent in prayer. After the jurors had asked Divine Guidance they proceeded with consideration of the evidence.

MORE WOES OF THE HAS-BEEN, JOHNSON

Joe Levy, First Knight of the Bed Chamber to Jack Johnson, found himself behind the bars of the county jail last night and all because of his little boast that he was going to leave this "blime" country and take a trip to his English 'ome.

But the United States government thought differently. Levy, whom Johnson calls his "little Jewish boy friend" and "confidential money man," knows several inside stories of the Big Cloud's life that may come in very handy to the government when the white slavery case against Johnson is called. Hence, when Levy's boast reached the ears of Bert J. Meyer, special agent of the Department of Justice, Levy was immediately grabbed off and rushed to jail. Judge Carpenter also increased his bond from $1,000 to $3,000.

"Habeas Corpus" Anderson's little scheme to make capital out of the mud that is attached to Jack Johnson's name, seems to have fallen flat. Anderson, who is a negro attorney, contrived to have the rich bugs of Lake Geneva pay an enormous sum for his friend, Judson C. Sherman's property up at the Newport of the West, by throwing a bluff that the Big Smoke would get it if they didn't come across with the right amount.

The scheme was going fine and the silk stockings were aroused to several kinds of points of indignation. After much coaxing Sherman agreed to let the mere white folks have first bid on the land. Through Anderson, who seems to know a lot about Sherman's affairs, he announced that a public auction would be held at the Chicago Real Estate Board rooms, 26 N. Dearborn street, and that both white and other colors would be admitted. But the directors of the Real Estate Board promptly put their foot down on the plan to sell the property at their place. They give a brief explanation to the effect that they didn't like the "color" of the thing. Neither does anyone seemingly.
